

They always say one thing. Get rid of your bread machine.

(Picture of Bread Machine)

They say it takes up counter space.

(A hand dumping flour into a bread machine and closing it)

They say you won't use it.

(A man taking a nap, in the background a bread machine bakes)

I don't know who they are, but they've obviously never woken up to the smell of fresh bread.

Bread Machines. Always fresh, always natural. Don't listen to them.
